“Quite Risky to A Bit Risque’ OUTDOOR STORIES I COULD NEVER WRITE”

A TALK BY: PAUL McHUGH

For 30 years, outdoor writer PAUL McHUGH roamed America, freezing on peaks, sweltering in deserts and getting buffeted down whitewater rivers.

Mostly, he’s written respectable stories about these adventures, primarily while a featured reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Now he’ll let his remaining hair down and disclose the wild, the improbable, and the just plain ridiculous portions of his illustrious career as a notebook-toting, outdoor crash dummy. Please come and share the laughter, and join Paul in marveling at his survival.
